Seniors vs. Juniors.

One of the most interesting inter-class games of football ever seen on the campus was that between the classes of '97 and '98. The game was very exciting from beginning to end, and every inch of ground was stubbornly fought over.

After the first two or three minutes of play, during the first half, the ball was not once in the Juniors' territory, and '97's goal was in danger several times; the half closed with the ball in the possession of the Juniors, on the Seniors' ten-yard line.

It seemed that neither side would be able to score, for during the second half the ball vacillated from one side of the field to the other until only two minutes remained to play, when Purifoy, '97, took the ball over for a touchdown.

The result of the game was a surprise to almost everybody, not that the Seniors won, but that the Juniors did so remarkably well. They did not prove such easy victims as the Seniors contemplated.

H. E. Harvey played the best game of any on the field, and his work has been highly complimented.

The following was the line-up:

SENIORS.	JUNIORS.
Nelson.....R. G.	Sargent (Capt.)
Mitcham.....C.	Pettus.
Armstrong.....L. G.	Dickey.
Harvey, F.....L. T.	Abernethy.
Purifoy.....R. T.	Jenkins.

Seniors Win the Championship.

The Seniors defeated the Freshmen in the last of the series of inter-class football games last Saturday, thereby winning the championship of the College.

They won easily by the score of 10 to 0.

The game was lifeless and proved very uninteresting. It seemed an effort for the men to get into the game, and when they did do so it was in a half-hearted manner.

The line-up was as follows:

SENIORS.	FRESHMEN.
Mitcham.....C.	Robinson.
Fitzgerald.....R. G.	Cunningham.
Green.....L. G.	Aikin.
Purifoy, W.....R. T.	Norris.
Harvey, F.....L. T.	Ward, G.
Hill.....L. E.	Eraso.
Jones.....R. E.	Marks.
Holcombe.....Q.	Graham, Capt.
Clark.....L. H.	Bulger.
Purifoy, J., Capt.	R. H. Hamilton.
Boykin.....F. B.	Glover.

North Carolina News.

To the Orange and Blue:

During the rather dull period of the College year our students do some work, it is true, but they employ no little of their time in recalling the pleasant experiences of the recent vacation, and in speculating as to the probable outcome of the athletic season just ahead of us. It is difficult, however, to give any correct forecast of what the future has in store for us athletically, for the severe and inclement weather of the winter months naturally pens up and obscures athletic ability that will show itself later in the season.

Stanley will again captain the team, and under his management we are looking for great things. Stanley, it will be remembered, captained the baseball team of '96, which made a truly phenomenal record, sustaining only one defeat, and that at the hands of Princeton. This team defeated Yale, Virginia, and other leading College teams by heavy scores. The schedule so far arranged for this season is by far the best we have had for years past, and will give our men an opportunity to try conclusions with Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, Lehigh, Virginia and others. Many teams of prominence have sought dates with us, and many had to be refused.

A series of indoor athletic contests are now being given under the management of the Gymnasium Director, Mr. Mechling. At these contests records are made and medals will be awarded later to the man who makes the highest number of points in the series. The features of these contests are both amusing and interesting, and are becoming quite popular.

The latest event of importance, however, was the inauguration of our new President, Dr. Alderman. It was indeed a great day in the history of our University. Men of prominence in all the walks and avocations of life gathered in our little village and celebrated the occasion with us.

On Monday and Tuesday preceding the Inaugural the State Association of City Superintendents met in Chapel Hill. On Thursday night Dr. K. P. Battle delivered the first lecture in a series of lectures by the faculty; and on Friday night the Glee and Mandolin Club gave their Annual Mid-Winter Concert, after which the German Club gave the regular monthly German for January.

The Commons, after overcoming the difficulties peculiar to an institution of its nature, is now moving along nicely and is des-tinued to be a great success. At this place one hundred and fifty men get good board at the small cost of $8.00 per month. Of course, it is optional with the student whether he boards at Commons or not.

No little partisan and sectarian jealousy has been aroused against the University, and our fate is now in the hands of our Legislature, sitting in Raleigh. We trust there is little cause for alarm, but the cloud hangs over us nevertheless, and serves to render gloomy a day that would otherwise be cheerful and bright.

TAR HEEL.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA,

Feb. 9th, 1897.

ORANGE AND BLUE: This year has been an important one in the history of our institution. For nearly ten months now the work on the new buildings, which are to replace those destroyed by fire last year, has gone steadily forward, and at last we can clearly see that the fire, which destroyed our rotunda and annex in October, '95, was but a blessing in disguise. Our quadrangle is rapidly being enclosed by the rising walls of the three new buildings at the lower end of the lawn, while the rotunda will soon be ready for our new library. The academic building is well on its way, while the electrical and mechanical buildings are being roofed over. Enough has been completed to judge of the harmony of the new buildings with the Greek architecture of the rest of the lawn. Jefferson's plan of copying on the lawn the best models of Greek architecture has been well continued by the graceful designs of McKim, Meade & White, the architects of the Grand Court at the Columbian Fair.

Our curriculum has been broadened by degrees until now the spirit of progress is as marked in that line as in the construction of more halls. The medical faculty has added a third year to its course; the law school, by the addition of more tickets, has made a B. L. the work of not less than two years; while in the engineering department the B. S. degrees, with a greater option in the choice of work, has succeeded the more rigid C. E. The encouragement of graduate work in the academic department is the latest advance in the direction of true university work. As a result of the action taken by the Board of Visitors this year in encouraging graduate work, there are nineteen men doing post-graduate work in College the present year.

With the return of fair weather this week the athletic field has shown the first signs of life since the football season. About thirty-five applicants are busily at work for a place on the baseball team. Mr. Coogan, of Providence, R. I., has been secured to teach our boys how to get into the game. As soon as he comes there will be a thinning out of the applicants until the select few are found. Games begin on the 15th of March, and, with two or three every week, continue until the Southern tour is made, the last of June. Three of last year's team are on the field already; Horton, our little short-stop, has not decided to come out yet, but if Virginia finds she must have him, he will undoubtedly appear on the field. Besides athletics, "politics" in the literary societies has kept things lively here. Unfortunately for the magazine, the societies have not yet called a halt in their quarrels. Wm. J. Bryan has been invited by the societies to deliver the address here at finals. He has not accepted the invitation yet. Not any free silver sentiment, but our admiration for his ability as an orator, obtained for him the invitation.

The Fayerweather bequest of $150,000 will probably be used to erect a much-needed hospital for the Meds. Thus the medical school, with its long-desired hospital, will be much better equipped than ever before.

COLLEGE TOPICS.

A Howling Success.

Every one awaited with eager anticipation the first appearance of the Cadet Minstrels, on Friday night, February 5th. Promptly at 8:15 p. m. the curtain rose and the entrance march by the orchestra brought upon the stage the whole troop in full minstrel costume, amid great applause from the largest audience that was ever assembled in Thomas' Hall. The grand opening itself was well worth the price of admission, and the end men jokes, which were mostly local and original, kept the audience in a constant uproar. The great and original way in which Messrs. Hobdy and Tate took the parts of end men, not only reflected great credit upon themselves, but proved that they would be an acquisition to any professional minstrel troop. Mr. B. L. Scott, as middle man, filled his place to perfection, and his clarionet solo was one of the most enjoyable numbers on the program. The college quartette, consisting of Messrs. J. A. Allen, 1st tenor; W. H. McBryde, 2d tenor; J. Q. Burton, baritone, and W. H. Negus, basso, rendered two very catchy songs in a most pleasing and charming manner, reflecting much credit upon their musical talent.

The feature of the evening was Prof. Schwarzburg-Sondershausen's phonograph. This wonderful instrument, as explained and operated by its inventors, Messrs.

Shivers & Nelson, simply captivated the audience, and could not be improved upon.

The stump speech by Mr. F. L. Tate, made a good hit, and kept the audience almost in a continuous roar.

The College orchestra could not be too highly spoken of, and the way in which it executed its part was exceptionally pleasing.

The plays of the entertainment were splendid in every respect, and the characters could not have been better selected.

Altogether, it is the grandest success of its kind that Auburn has seen in a long while, and too much could not be said of Messrs. Hobdy and Tate, as it was due to their earnest and untiring efforts that made the entertainment the success it was.

Although the night was a very disagreeable one, the audience could not have been any larger in that hall, and over $145.00 was realized.

The Literary Societies.

During the festivities of the first month of the new year, attendance on the societies has sadly fallen off. Many of the leading members have been quite busy with their parts in the very pleasant benefit for the "Annual." From now on we trust the societies will be as well attended and as successful in every way as before the Christmas holidays. A competitive debate between Auburn and Athens was recently suggested. What steps have the societies taken in regard to the matter? Such a contest would be of great interest and would greatly stimulate activity in the societies. A recent number of the Forum (January or December) gives a full account of the manner in which these great oratorical contests are conducted between Princeton and Harvard and Yale. The Western Colleges, too, have been very successful in similar debates. Let us take hold of the matter.

Commencement Hop.

The Commencement Hop Committee, as elected by the several fraternities and non-fraternity men, consists of the following students: J. C. Abernethy, W. K. Armstrong, R. Bulger, G. O. Dickey, J. B. Hobdy, C. N. Jones, E. B. Joseph, P. M. McIntyre, W. H. Negus, C. J. Nelson, F. L. Tate, M. D. Thomas, W. T. Warren, N. J. Wiley and George Wrigley.

This committee has elected Mr. W. H. Negus as its chairman; and with him as chairman and such a committee to back him, we may rest assured that the Commencement Hop this session will be quite a success.

Applicants for the baseball team are requested to give their names to Capt. Mason.

The Library.

The largest installment of new books for the year has just been catalogued, running up the accessions so far for the present session to nearly 400 volumes. Exclusive of the Scientific and Government libraries, the General library now numbers between six and seven thousand books, and all of the very best variety and quality. Being entirely new, and being selected largely by the professors of each department, the collection contains little or no dead material. The latest arrivals range from "grave to gay; from lively to serene." The big guns are among the new reference works. Murray's Historical Dictionary, Vol. II, gets into "C," and we wonder if Mr. Murray will line into H? For convenience these ponderous tomes ought to be swung on a derrick. Ranke's six vols. of History of England, Duyckinck's American Literature, Bourgeois' Louis XIV, and Dumas in an excellent 21 vol. edition, demand attention. Valuable additions have been made in the departments of Civil, Electrical and Mechanical Engineering. In the lighter vein are new sets of John Esten Cooke, Mark Twain, and, above all, the elegant Dryburgh edition of Scott in 25 vols. We are glad to note the great interest of the students in the library.

Y. M. C. A.

Our meeting on January 17th was one of exceptional power and benefit. It was an old-fashioned testimony meeting, led by Cadet N. C. Smith. Notwithstanding many confessions of partial failures at times in the Christian life, some were bright and inspiring testimonies of lives "hid with Christ in God," lives "abiding" in the Master, spirit-filled and strong and useful in his service. It seems to be the opinion of all that it was one of the best and most far-reaching meetings, in its results upon the individual life of those present, that we have held this year.

Our missionary meeting held on "Armenian cruelties," was one of interest. Cadet W. S. Garner was the leader, and read a very excellent paper. We were told something of the cause, increase and extent of the butchery, outrage and torture of the harmless, thrifty, forbearing Armenian Christians by the greedy, base and cruel Turks. Dr. Ross also gave us quite an instructive talk on the situation of the Armenians, and the responsibility and duty of the Christian peoples. Our tortured Armenian brother has the right to our sympathy, prayers and means for his relief.

The following meeting was led by Cadets S. T. Slaton and J. M. Atkinson. Despite the very inclement day, our fellows turned out well, and were greatly benefited by the talks, and the Spirit's presence. Our Association has, upon the whole, much better leaders for our religious meeting than in any previous year since the writer has been connected with the organization. So, not only in numbers, but in spiritual power and life, our Association has greatly improved over previous years.

On Sunday afternoon, Feb. 14, the series of lectures on the Bible by members of the Faculty will begin. They will be delivered about one a month, Prof. Thach delivering the first on "The Bible as Literature." All deprived of hearing this one will miss one of the best lectures that we have been privileged to hear in Auburn recently. All the students, whether members of the Association or not, are very heartily invited to attend.

Conversation Club.

The following is the program of the N. T. Lupton Conversation Club for the second half of this session:

Feb. 9—Dr. Samuel Johnson, Mr. R. W. Burton.
Feb. 23—Thomas Babington Macaulay, Prof. B. B. Ross.
March 9—James Lane Allen, Prof. Charles C. Thach.
March 23—John Keats, Mrs. B. A. Wills.
April 6—Robert Burns, Prof. O. D. Smith.
April 20—Max O'Rell, Prof. Jno. J. Wilmore.
May 4—James Anthony Froude, Mrs. A. F. McKissick.
May 18—Ciro Pinsuti and Sydney Smith (with piano interpretations), Mrs. W. B. Frazer.

Vanderbilt Letter.

VANDERBILT UNIVERSITY,
Feb. 2, 1897.

At last the students at Vanderbilt are breathing easy. The examinations of the first term are over. Some are congratulating themselves on their passes, and are in a good humor with all the world. Others are regretting that they "rushed" society too much in the past, and have determined to lead hermits' lives for the next five months.

There is very little of interest going on in athletics just now, and all are either reviewing the last football season, or speculating as to our strength in baseball in the spring. This was an off season in football with Vanderbilt. Several games were lost in the early part of the season on account of the large amount of new material in the team; but by hard work a winning team was put in the field on Thanksgiving Day. Several of the old men will be back next year, and with O'Connor as captain a very successful year is expected.

The University of Georgia is to be congratulated on its enviable record in football last season. Georgia played always a clean and scientific game, and well deserves the championship of the S. I. A. Association.

Vanderbilt was honored by the annual meeting of the S. I. A. A. in December last. This was a very important meeting, and many measures for the good of athletics in the South were passed. It was also determined to hold the annual Field Day of the association at Vanderbilt.

The stand taken by the Southern colleges in refusing to play the peripatetic "Yale" team of "barkers" certainly is deserving of great credit. It is to be hoped that the very cold reception given to teams of this sort by Southern colleges will stop these money making trips.

Lately Prof. E. E. Barnard, an alumnus of Vanderbilt, was honored by a medal from the Royal Astronomical Society. Prof. Barnard has had charge of the Lick Observatory, and now is at the Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago.

Vanderbilt is becoming a very popular place for fraternity conventions. Delta Kappa Epsilon held its convention here last fall, and Kappa Alpha, Sigma Nu, and Beta Theta Pi expect to meet here during the Centennial Exposition.

Dr. H. C. Tolman, with Prof. Harrington, of the University of North Carolina, has just brought out a book on Greek and Roman mythology, a publication that the South may well be proud of. Dr. Baskerville has contributed his "Southern Men of Letters Series."

Vanderbilt's prospects for baseball are very bright. Our pitchers and catcher of last year's team will play again, and some very good new material is in the University. The University of Virginia is to be felicitated on her recent acquirements by the Fayerweather will. Capital is so very scarce latterly with Southern colleges that a hundred and fifty thousand is not to be sneezed at. It is unfortunate that the distribution of the estate has been so long delayed.

THE HUSTLER.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA.

December 19, 1896.

To Orange and Blue:

The University of Alabama opened on the first Wednesday in October with bright prospects. The law class is the largest that has ever matriculated. The student body is about the same size it was last year. Hitherto—at least since the late war—the University has been a strict military school, having at one time worn the soubriquet of the "West Point of the South." This year, however, the trustees granted ex-military to the seniors, not allowing them to board in barracks and putting them on the same plane as the law students. The juniors, sophomores, and freshmen are in barracks and under as strict military discipline as possible, despite the fact that the fates seemed against us. Class rivalry in football has been at the highest. So far three inter-class games have been played by different classes with the unprecedented result of three tie scores of 0 to 0. No class made a single score in any inter-class game! We have splendid prospects for a good baseball team this year and we expect to sustain our reputation in that line. A gigantic petition will be presented to get permission for our team to travel and it is hoped it will be granted. Anyway, we have one of the prettiest diamonds in the South and the 8,000 inhabitants of Tuscaloosa patronize this game in a most encouraging manner, so other colleges can not do better than to arrange games on our campus. Our gymnasium team with the aid of the glee club will give an exhibition in the opera house soon after Christmas. The old University is "keeping up with the procession." Barracks life binds our students together with bonds of loyalty and common interest so that the college spirit flourishes in our midst. Theoretically the University makes no pause for Christmas, but practically most of the students will take advantage of the ten days furlough granted them, when requested by a letter from their parents. With best wishes,
"CRIMSON—WHITE."

A New College.

The North Alabama Methodist Episcopal Conference has decided to locate a male college at Owentown, two miles west of Birmingham, on the dummy line from the Magic City to Bessemer. It is proposed to erect soon, perhaps in the spring, a $25,000 or $30,000 brick building that will accommodate from 100 to 200 students. Mr. Owen, of Owentown, secured the location of the school at that place by a bid of 100 acres of land accompanied by a cash donation.—Crimson—White.

Baseball.

The first practice game of baseball was played on the campus last Saturday afternoon. The baseball ability evidenced by the new men was indeed gratifying, and augurs well for an excellent team. Although the diamond was very rough, the fielding was clean and the throwing was remarkably accurate for the beginning of the season.

Behind the bat Smith showed up in excellent style, and Holcombe played short without an error. Boyd, McQueen, Gilder and Cunningham showed themselves capable of playing good ball. Rand and Wheeler both did good work in the box; they have fair speed and excellent control of the ball.

The men of last year's team who have returned were all out, except Nelson and Kyser, but they will also don their uniforms in a few days.

It is now a certainty that we are to have a coach, and as soon as he arrives work will be commenced in earnest, and interest and enthusiasm will increase.

There is no reason why we should not have a winning team; so let every man who can play ball at all get on his uniform and come on the field. If any one may think that he has a sure thing for a place on the team, and is holding back until the team is "in trim," he is mistaken, and the longer he remains off of the field the less will be his chances for a place.

Come out, boys, work hard, and we feel confident that victory will crown your deserving efforts.

The Gymnasium Team.

Under the excellent direction of Mr. Berry Scott, the Gymnasium Team has been doing some fine work.

There have been four times the usual number of applicants, consequently the men who have been so deserving as to merit a place are better than those who usually compose our team. The competition has been sharper, therefore the applicants have put forth their best efforts.

Our team is one of which any College might well be proud, and we are indeed glad to note its progress.

We learn that they will give a public exhibition in the near future, the proceeds to be given to the Athletic Association. This promises to be a rare treat, and we await it with interest.

Old Ironsides.

The frigate "Constitution," better known as "Old Ironsides," which for years has been rotting in the navy yard, is to be overhauled and repaired. Congress will probably make an appropriation for that purpose, and afterwards it will be transported to Washington to be used as a naval museum.

By recent act of the Legislature the University of Alabama gets ten thousand dollars a year for the next two years, in addition to the usual appropriation of twenty-four thousand a year.

Local talent of the city will present "Lady Audley's Secret," at Thomas' Hall, Friday night, Feb. 26. This entertainment is given for the benefit of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Episcopal church, and promises to be one of the most enjoyable events of its kind ever seen in Auburn. The amateur dramatic talent in Auburn is of the best, and as this play is under the same management as "Among the Breakers" of two years ago, it is needless to say that it will be enjoyed by all. Those attending will not only get the worth of their money, but help a laudable cause.

Several of the young ladies were present and joined the Websterian Literary Society last Saturday night, a result of which there was a full attendance at the meeting. If these young ladies will only lend their presence often to the meetings, we will once again see a revival of the old time interest in the societies. Let others of the young ladies come out and join one of the societies, for their presence will be an incentive to the boys, as was plainly shown Saturday night at the Websterian Hall.

The ladies of the Episcopal Aid Society gave quite a unique and pleasing entertainment at Thomas' Hall Friday night, Feb. 12th, consisting of "living pictures," music and recitations. Miss Eugenia Baker, of Opelika, rendered several readings and captivated the audience by the grace and ease with which she spoke. It was through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Wilmore that the whole performance passed off so smoothly, realizing the neat sum of $85.00.

Friday evening, Feb. 4th, Prof. Thach delivered a very interesting and instructive lecture in Columbus, Ga., on "Teaching English." The Principal of the City Schools of Columbus, having heard Prof. Thach lecture before the State Teachers' Association which met in Mobile last December, invited him to lecture his corps of teachers in the Columbus High School. We may be sure that much enthusiasm was aroused in teaching English.

An Englishman's View.

The London News has published a letter in which Mr. Lehmann, the English coach, who spent six weeks here this fall teaching Harvard oarsmen how to row the Oxford stroke, describes the American game of football and his sensations on seeing it played. He speaks of it with surprised enthusiasm. Football cannot be a gentle game, he thinks, and the American game struck him as even less mild than English football. He adds, however: "But the game I saw (between Harvard and Pennsylvania), though it was violent and rough, was never brutal. Indeed, I cannot hope to see a finer exhibition of courage, strength and manly endurance without a trace of meanness than that which was given by those two teams."—E. S. Martin, in Harper's Weekly.

Dr. Cupid's Celebrated Love Draught.

Mix bonbons, sodas, oyster stews and flowers
With sleigh-rides, and long, quiet summer hours,
Talks in a hammock, strolls beside the sea,
Two dances, and five cups of steaming tea;
Put in a dozen sighs, a stolen kiss,
And add a host of loving words to this;
Steep for awhile in moonlight, and then bring
To a quick boil with one bright diamond ring.

The whole with gentle courtesy impart,
And you may win the coldest maiden's heart.
Ellis Parker Butler in Puck.

When we look out, at roll call, upon 350 young men, regular students of the A. & M. College, and then compare this number to the number enrolled upon the books of the two literary societies, the natural question arises: "Why do not more join the societies?" It is to be presumed that all are here for the purpose of educating themselves; that being the case, it is passing strange that they either willfully or through negligence throw away the opportunity offered them by the societies. The societies, in themselves, offer honors; but more than this, is the companionship they give; the opportunity of studying human nature, and of reading men, the upbuilding of one's self-confidence, and that which is greater than all this, they fit one for future life by instilling in him that principle which makes him ever ready for debate, by clothing him in an armor of self-defense, as seen in a ready use of words. It seems but wanton carelessness that one whose object is to educate himself should thus throw to the winds an opportunity of gaining knowledge and distinction by remaining without the pale of the literary societies—knowing that he has a hearty invitation to come, and while there to take part in its meetings, thus educating himself, while, at the same time, he derives pleasure from the effort.

At present there seems a desire to broaden the field of contest, not limiting it to athletics alone; but to include within its borders the trial of speech against speech as well as strength against strength. There is a growing desire to have an annual contest between this college and some college in another State, in order to arouse college men to a greater appreciation of the advantages of oratory,—not only for the sake of its great importance to themselves, but for the purpose of upbuilding and reflecting credit upon the institutions they represent. When we remember how fortunate this institution has been in winning the honors at the State Chautauqua, and when we realize the reputation that it will doubtless give the college, we cannot see why an annual inter-State contest would not at least be as good, and possibly better, than the annual contest between the different colleges of this State.

The University of Georgia has long been our rival in athletics, and there is no reason why she should not be our rival in the oratorical contests.

Every one knows the enthusiasm and interest displayed with reference to these games, both by students and by the people at large, and it is by no means doubtful that an oratorical contest would excite as much interest and arouse the enthusiasm of as many people as the foot-ball and base-ball games. If Georgia will co-operate with us in this matter we see no reason why there should not result from it, in the early future, one of the greatest and most interesting public meetings the South has witnessed in some time, wherein the interest pertains to college spirit and college rivalry. The societies are highly in favor of this movement, and hope that those beyond its pales who feel so interested will unite themselves with the one or the other of the two societies, and by so doing lend their aid to a work which must be fraught with much individual and general good.

As yet, only fourteen men have handed in their names as applicants for the Track Team. Wake up, fellows, this will not do!

It has been rumored that several of the faculty were favored with beautiful and appropriate valentines.

The young ladies were quite popular on Valentine's day.

At the last meeting of Camp Pelham, U. S. C. V., of this place, it was decided to offer a medal to the student of this institution who writes the best original essay on some Confederate subject.

On resignation of W. M. Williams as manager of the baseball team, H. H. Kyser was elected. He is an energetic fellow, and will make the team an excellent manager.

The Remenyi Concert.

Remenyi is coming. And who is Remenyi? The musicians tell us he is one of the four or five greatest masters on the violin in the world. The opportunity to hear this superb artist is indeed a rare privilege, and one that will not come to many of the students again in a lifetime. It is sincerely to be hoped that a sufficient fund can be raised to secure this great treat. Every body enjoys good music. Of course, classic music appeals, perhaps, only to the cultured few, but Remenyi, according to all authorities, plays for the people as well as for the critics. His rendering of various national airs is said to be thrilling. Even in classic pieces his soul-stirring expression will appeal to the dullest ear. Several of the students and professors who have heard him, speak in warm praise of his entertainments.

Lecture Last Night.

Last night, despite the inclement weather, there assembled a large and cultured audience at the Literary to hear Prof. C. C. Thach, of Auburn, deliver his lecture on "A Higher Popular Culture; and How It May be Attained."

The lecture was enjoyed by all, and those who attended are loud in their praises of Prof. Thach as a lecturer. He also delivered a lecture to the teachers of the Columbus public schools yesterday afternoon, which was enjoyed and appreciated by those who heard the talented speaker.—Enquirer-Sun.

Thanks.

The editors of the "Glomerata," and all participants in the "Cadet Minstrels," wish to thank all who aided in any way in making the entertainment the success that it was pronounced to be.

Especially are we indebted to the "College Orchestra" for the willingness they displayed in furnishing music for the occasion; but, above all, are we indebted to Miss Allie Glenn, who was ever willing and ready to lend her assistance, without which the entertainment must have proven a failure.

Tennis Club.

In May there is to be a large tennis tournament in Montgomery, and as this college is to be represented, there will be a tournament here between now and then. The winners of this tournament will be our representatives at Montgomery. The following compose the club: Col. M. O. Hollis, Dr. C. H. Ross, Mr. C. L. Hare, Prof. Chas. C. Thach and Cadets Warren, Wiley, Nixon, Joseph, Semmes, Woods and Nelson. No permanent organization has yet been effected.

We regret very much to hear of the death of Mr. Lee S. Schiefelin, of Nashville, Tenn., on January 3rd.

He graduated from this Institution in the class of '78, and has been engaged in the manufacturing business in Nashville for several years.

Mrs. F. A. Fulghum, '94, is visiting the family of her father, Dr. Wm. LeRoy Broun.

Leigh S. Boyd, '92, is reported as being a great deal better and in a short while he will be well enough to resume his work. We are delighted to hear of his improved condition.

On February 8th, Cadet 2nd Lieut. W. A. Fitzgerald was promoted to the rank of 1st Lieut.

and Cadet G. N. Mitcham was appointed 2nd Lieut. The battalion is in splendid condition at present and a great deal of interest is taken in the military department.

Mr. Wilmot B. Matthews was married to Miss Lula Cordelia Morton at Lumpkin, Ga., on Feb. 10th. Mr. Matthews formerly lived in Auburn and graduated from this Institution in the class of 1890. He now holds an important position with the Georgia and Alabama Railroad.

On February 10th, at Jonesboro, Ga., Mr. William Francis Feagin was married to Miss Elizabeth Chappelle Stewart. "Billy" Feagin graduated from this Institution in 1892 with high honors and was assistant in Agriculture in 1892-3. He was manager of the foot-ball team, manager of the College Magazine, and was a general favorite both with the student body and the young ladies, and is still held in the highest esteem by all who know him. He is now Professor of Mathematics in the Northeast Alabama Agricultural School at Albertville.

Prof. W. M. Riggs, '93, E. and M. E. '94, Asst. in Physics '95 and '96, arrived here Sunday and will be here for about a week. It gives us great pleasure to see him once more, and we only wish that he could be with us longer. While he was here, it was due to his untiring efforts that our foot-ball team reached the position that it now occupies. He was the leader in all of our athletic sports and no one has been missed more than he. He left Auburn about this time last year to accept a position at Clemson College, S. C., at which place he is now Asst. Professor of Electricity and is held in the highest esteem by both the faculty and entire student body.

Daily at Tulane.

Tulane's two papers, "College Spirit" and "Olive and Blue," have consolidated, and henceforth will appear daily under the name of "College Spirit."

These papers have been among our brightest exchanges, and we hope that the daily will be as successful as the weeklies have been.

This move is something new in the South, and Tulane has our best wishes in her undertaking.
